

Five From the SimpleVisor Screening Tool

This week's scan serves two purposes. The primary purpose is to find value stocks with relative strength. Second, we use the SimpleVisor Screener tool to perform this scan and provide step-by-step instructions to help you get better acquainted with scanning for stocks using your criteria.

Using SimpleVisor

The SimpleVisor Screener is found in the main menu to the left under Ideas - Screener. The function allows you to create screens using four broad categories. Scans can be saved for future viewing.

The first step is selecting the broad parameters or filter categories. The four categories to choose from are Descriptive, Fundamentals, Performance, and Technical.

Next, click on each of the categories to view the underlying selections. You can choose as many or as few of the options as you like. The more factors you select, the fewer the resulting stocks, but your results will be more refined. Most selections allow you to choose from a predefined range or customize a preferred range.

When you finish selecting scanning factors, click on Filter (blue). We often find it helpful to filter multiple times during the process to gauge how many or how few stocks meet the criteria. We may tweak our criteria based on initial results.

When you click Filter, the area with the filter options compresses, and the results appear. You can click through Overview, Technicals, Fundamentals, and Performance to view data for the selected stocks. Within each category, you can sort the results by the available headings.

If you want to change the filters, click on the blue Filter box and the scanning options reappear. Make changes and hit Filter again for new results.

If you like the scan and want to save it, click the green Save As Screen button to the right of the blue Filter button. It will ask you for a name and description. Upon saving it, you can recall it in the Saved Screens box in the upper left corner. If you want to track the scan over time, add it to a Portfolio Watchlist and see how the group of stocks trades.

As you finalize your scan and results, you can sort and limit the number of stocks with the Sort and Limit functions. In the example below, we restrict the scan to the top 20 results sorted by Momentum. Hit Filter to run this function.

The screenshot shows the SimpleVisor scan interface. At the top, there's a 'Saved Screens' dropdown with 'ML Value 1.20.22' selected. Below it are buttons for 'Run Screen' (blue) and 'Delete Screen' (red). A 'Filters' section contains several active filters: 'Indices: S&P 500', 'Mohanram Score: At least 5', 'Piotroski Score: At least 6', 'P/E: Low (<15)', 'Forward P/E: Low (<15)', 'PEG: Low (<1)', and 'P/S (TTM): Low (<1)'. Below the filters are buttons for 'Filter' (blue), 'Reset' (yellow), and 'Save as Screen' (green). The main section is divided into four tabs: 'Descriptive', 'Fundamentals', 'Performance', and 'Technical'. Under 'Descriptive', there are dropdowns for 'Indices' (S&P 500), 'Sectors' (Any), 'Assets' (Any), 'Market Cap' (Any), 'Dividend Yield' (Any), 'Dividend Date' (Any), 'Split Date' (Any), and 'Earnings Date' (Any). The 'Sort' dropdown is set to 'Momentum' and the 'Order' dropdown is set to 'Descending'. The 'Limit' dropdown is set to '20'. At the bottom, there's a 'Tables' dropdown and a row of tabs: 'Overview' (blue), 'Technicals' (blue), 'Fundamentals' (blue), and 'Performance' (blue).

The table below provides an overview of our results. We sorted the results by Piotroski Score within the Technicals category.
